Too many companies reach success once but then end up floundering. The reason is that these companies did not plan with any strategy in mind.

We've provided counsel to oil and gas companies, clean energy and grid management companies, oil field services companies and E&P companies, and the following:

- we've counseled noteholders on investments in public E&P company
- we've advised an electrical grid management technology company
- we've advised a company holding a patent to convert 100% plastic waste into alternative building material
